MADDENED ELEPHANTS.

The Great Brute Often Driven Wild by Fearful Task Aches.

"Zanzibar," said Robert Crawford, "is the greatest market for South African ivory, which is brought there in large quantities from the interior. This ivory is placed in large warehouses from which it is either sold at once or else held therein for a better market." The man in charge of these warehouses was a very interesting character, an expert in ivory. He told me many curious things about it and among others propounded the following theory as an explanation of why elephants go mad and occasionally run amuck.

"In the warehouses were a pair of magnificent tusks, measuring fully 14 feet from tip to tip, which in life must have been carried by a veritable God of War among elephants. The expert in showing me these tusks pointed out the fact that while one was complete and flawless the other was broken off at the point and showed deep scratches and abrasions throughout its length.

"Now," said he, "if you will look near the base you will find a hole made by decay that had struck into the nerves and given that elephant a toothache. And think what a toothache of toothaches an 14 foot tooth must have held. In his effort to relieve this pain the elephant rubbed his tusk against rocks and trees and drove it into the earth, which mutilated it in the manner you see here. I have frequent come across places where an elephant has ripped up great spaces in the forest and torn down the trees, and I am positive that toothache was the cause of this frenzy."

"An elephant in a circus going suddenly mad and killing his keeper is not an uncommon thing, but I'll wager that in nine cases out of ten if they would properly investigate the matter they would find that the brute's sudden frenzy sprung from so ordinary a cause as common, everyday toothache."

"Exchange."

A TRIUMPH OF SURGERY.

The Case of a Man Who Swallowed His Suspenders.

A case recorded in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal by Dr. M. H. Richardson is a remarkable example of the extraordinary feats in swallowing foreign bodies sometimes performed by men.

A man, aged 29 years, was admitted to the hospital. He said that two weeks previously, while he was in a despondent state, he had endeavored to swallow his suspenders and had succeeded in getting down certain portions, but how much he had swallowed he could not tell. He did not complain of pain, but rather of discomfort under the breast while eating. The food at times passed easily into the stomach. At other times it was regurgitated immediately. Nothing could be seen in the throat. With a probe some obstruction was felt.

A physician showed a suspender buckle at the middle of the chest and possibly another higher up. As the chief danger in esophageal impaction is from ulceration into the great vessels, especially when the foreign body has sharp edges, and as fatal erosion usually takes place in two weeks or less, it was concluded that if there was any erosion it was sufficiently advanced to make even the most careful manipulation dangerous. The problem was how to perform extraction without producing fatal hemorrhage.

The throat was opened, and with a pair of forceps, a string attached to a brass ring and then half a suspender with two buckles and finally a third buckle were removed. A probang was passed into the stomach without meeting with further obstruction.

The wound was closed with silk sutures, and recovery ensued.

Not an Indian.

Mrs. H. S. Boal, a daughter of William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), lives at a place in Wyoming which bears the strange name of B. X. Ranch, Slack. Among the curious questions put to her by visitors are these:

"I suppose you have a large collection of Indian scalps?"

"Have you ever been scalped yourself?"

"Do you keep buffaloes as domestic pets?"

Once, on the ranch, while she was entertaining a foreign stranger, her father rode by, and she said:

"There goes Colonel Cody now."

The man looked at the horseman long and anxiously.

"Are you sure about it?"

"Certainly. I know him very well indeed."

"Well, I declare! I was never so surprised in my life. Why, that man is a gentleman and not an Indian at all."

Don't Borrow.

Only the other day a Boston firm of sharks charged a man $5 for making out the mortgage on a loan of $10 and then charged him interest. A Lowell shark recently loaned a man $20 and charged him $3 for making out the mortgage, and every month he causes the man to sign a new mortgage and charges him $3 each time, besides the regular rate of interest, thus bringing the interest up to $100 per cent per annum. The several mortgages are not recorded—since the first one, and every $3 the borrower pays goes into the lender's pocket.—Boston Traveler.

By resolution:

Saturday, August 25, 1900.

Was designated for the holding of primaries for the purpose of selecting the delegates from the different counties. It was ordered, that wherever considered feasible and practicable, the election of delegates should be by primary. When not so considered by the Democratic County Central Committees, the names of the delegates should be selected from their respective counties and in such counties as have no Democratic Central Committee, the local members of the Democratic State Central Committee shall either call primaries on themselves or select delegates from their respective counties.

The test for voters at the primaries and for delegates is as follows:

"I favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and I oppose any bill for the debasement of the Democratic State Convention."

G. S. GULLING, Chairman.

JOHN H. DENNIS, Secretary.

BRYAN AND THE OLD SOLDIERS.

There is in the invitation extended by the Grand Army of the Republic to Bryan, and its acceptance by him, evidence that there is a fellow feeling between the old soldiers and the patriot who is largely devoting his life and best efforts to continue the government these men fought to perpetuate in their early manhood. The feeling that existed against men who were Democrats is speedily passing, as it should to secure a united patriotism for a maintenance of the republic in its purity, which these men fought to secure. Much of the feeling was of a political nature and without any real cause for its existence.

When the passions of men had become enlisted there was no half way place for thought and reason, which is always a result under similar influences, as were present during and for many years after the war. A large majority of Union soldiers could not conceive of anything like love of country having a place in a Democrat. The term Democrat was believed to possess opposition to the principles the Union soldier fought to secure, which belief was too often acted upon in social and political life.

There is no remedy for such convictions like time and change. When relations change and the cause of contention is presented in a different form, and under new and different circumstances, men see the object of contention in a changed position, which brings to their aid truths new in their application to the subject matter on which they are divided in opinion, and as a consequence a difference in action. A cause of contention is often removed by change.

When another form is given which reconciles, the mind is persuaded that differences which had existed were caused more by the position of the men than by any real difference in conviction. A change has come which turns light in a new form upon subject matter which caused differences in opinion, and it is discovered by the patriot soldier that a patriot Democrat is as earnest in his love of country as any Union soldier could be, and that the real cause of difference between them has been caused by position, and not by loss of patriotism.

It has been discovered by the old soldiers that Bryan is standing upon their platform, which has only one plank, called love of country. The platform is well named, because it is truth, and is sufficient in length and breadth to embrace in the bonds of love the human family. The soldier has learned from more recent lights thrown upon this all-sustaining plank that Bryan stands squarely upon it. The soldier has not lost sight of the truth that his country is now united, and is not divided by differences that came out of ancient relations given by his race to another branch of the human family, which relations have been removed largely through his efforts, and that the principle of a common brotherhood is admitted, subject to such differences as nature and nature's God has placed upon them, slavery not being one of these differences.

The soldier has also discovered that the party in its combined form which Bryan represents in his character of leader is the only party there is in the land that is committed to freedom in its broadest sense and is the only party that represents in its combined form patriotism as the soldier understands it, which is equal to all he is, including life or death for his country. When there is taken in review the causes operating to bring the old soldier into sympathy with Bryan and the principles he and his supporters are contending for there is not anything to cause surprise, but there is every cause present to produce the effect there is included in the invitation extended to Bryan to meet with the Grand Army of the Republic at its reunion at Chicago.

The soldier is not blind to causes and will not be swerved by party considerations that have past away. He understands the principles he took up arms to sustain and maintain, which includes freedom to all men and a united country upon that principle. When he understands that freedom and equal rights before the law is denied to those who have become subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, because of the fortunes of war or from any cause, he will not support any innovation upon the rights he fought to procure for those entitled to receive and have them, as citizens of the United States should have and receive them. The republic in its purity is as it should be to the soldier worth more than party or party name. Principles are what he fought for, not names or parties. When the care and observance of principles have ceased to be the work of a party with which he has been identified in a political relation to be the controlling purpose of the party it is his duty to oppose it and, to provide the means to make his opposition effective he will act with those who are making like opposition which his judgement demands he should make. There are many of the old soldiers who will support Bryan, not because he lives in Nebraska or became a volunteer to relieve the people of Cuba, but upon principle and for the sake of principles that are dear to the American citizen who loves home and country to the exclusion of society fads and innovations to support these fads at the expense of free government and the rights of the body of the people.

Equal rights as declared in the Declaration of Independence and confirmed by the constitution is good enough for Americans and they will not have anything else. The will of monied aristocracy will have to be expended upon something less strong and less durable than the foundations of the republic, as it is the intention of the old soldiers that they shall stand unimpaired by McKinley, Hay and other small tyrants who have them in charge at this time.

Struck by Lightning.

The other night an incandescent wire fell out in Powning, addition. The sparks emitted attracted myriads of insects. You know Byron's line:

"Women and moths attracted by a glare."

The bugs and beetles were a great drawing card for the frogs in the neighboring ditch. They hopped over to devour the entomological specimens and four of 'em met an untimely end by electrocution.

The New Refinery.

The Electric Mining and Reduction company's new assay office on Center street is now under roof. This building is 24 by 50 feet and a story and three quarters high.

Material is on the ground for the construction of the bullion refinery and tool shops. These buildings will be erected immediately.

Low Water.

Secretary Bechtel of the R. W. L. & Co. reports that his plant has been able to run so far without auxiliary power. The water failed only one night.

Yesterday the few stamps and pans still operating at the Reduction works had to stop for lack of power.

HAPPENINGS OF NEVADA

Pencilings and Clippings of Recent Events in the State.

The Ormsby county fair will be held at Carson September 24th to 29th inclusive.

It is reported that the plant of the Golconda News is soon to be moved to Winnemucca and a semi-weekly newspaper started.

The Dayton Times says honey bees are so numerous in Mason Valley that a large proportion of the dwelling houses have swarms working away between the outer and inner walls.

At a meeting of the Elko Silver County Central Committee Monday evening, a resolution was read and adopted endorsed Bryan and Stevenson and urging united action of all the Silver forces on the electoral ticket.

We learn that A. Skillman of the Eureka Sentinel, who is receiving medical treatment at San Francisco, cannot live much longer. Mr. Skillman is over 75 years of age and a pioneer of Nevada, and one of the State's most prominent men.

MINES AND MINING

The 400,000 tons of tailings accumulated at the DeLamar mill at Lincoln county are to be worked by the leaching process.

The Southern Pacific company has recently made some important reductions in the rate for the shipment of ore over the Carson & Colorado railroad, and railroad men intimate that there is a prospect of still further reductions.

Troubles of a Minister.

To benefit others Rev. J. T. W. Vernon, of Hartwell, Ga., writes: "For a long time I had a running sore on my leg. I tried many remedies without benefit, until I used a bottle of Electric Bitters and a box of Bucklin's Arnica Salve which cured me sound and well." Sores, Eruption, Boils, Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum show impure blood. Thousands have in Electric Bitters a grand blood purifier that absolutely cures these troubles. Satisfaction is guaranteed or money refunded. S. J. Hodgkinson. Large bottles only 50 cents.

Best in the World.

We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough. Having read these advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for colds and coughs—The Herald, Andersonville, Ind. For sale by Wm. Piniger.

It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhea regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces Inflammation and gives Tonsils and Energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children toothache is pleasant to the taste and in the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Bear and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

Give Him a Call.

W. J. Lynch, one of the best known tonorial artists in the State, is now cozily ensconced in the Monarch shaving parlors. He will conduct this establishment in a manner that will please his patrons.

THEY NEED
REGULATING

And if They Are Patient They'll Get Just What They Need.

Although the matter was first mentioned in a joking manner, there is now serious talk of a citizens' committee "regulating" affairs in the ten-derloin.

The first intimation of their proposed visit will doubtless be a warning to the proprietors of the Del Paso that "rough houses" are to be a thing of the past. Some other things must be stopped there, one of which is solicitation in public by abandoned women.

One of Mr. Snowden's barkeepers came to us last night and said: "Let up on Bob, won't you? He's a friend of yours and is square. He is satisfied with the legitimate profits of his place."

We won't deny any of these allegations, but will say that some of the Del Paso hang-ups are not "satisfied with their legitimate profits," unless a very liberal construction be placed upon the word "legitimate" and the next to the briefest commandment be stricken out of the decalogue.

After warning this establishment to tone down a trifle, the regulators will visit the "tribe" where several robbers were recently caught and warn the denizens of that they ought to immediately purchase tickets for the land of sunshine, fruit and flowers.

Then these citizens will be expected to call upon the two score young tailor made hobos who rattle in their pockets coins earned in shame. Some of these young men have arrived contemporaneously, and, who knows, from the same source as the recent slimes below
the sewer mouth. Others were born and grew to what might have been manhood in this city, but they all will or should receive the warning to tackle either honest labor or the brakeman.

If these warnings be heeded, all will be well. If they are disregarded, which we greatly doubt, then there will—but rather than write prophecy we will wait and record history. The citizens of Reno have been known to use the tar barrel and the hangman's noose.

Whether they will again be brought into requisition depends largely upon the continuance of the present causes.

Over the Wire.

The long distance telephone will be completed to Cisco today.

Rates have been reduced to Verdi,
Floriston, Iceland, Boss and Truckee.
The first minute now costs 25 cents and every additional minute 10 cents.

The branch has been completed to Truckee City and Deer Park Inn.

A number of new subscribers have been obtained in Reno. A new card will be gotten out in a few days. Under Manager Luke's able supervision
the local exchange is rapidly improving in efficiency.

Turn on The Water.

A visitor to Lake Tahoe informed the writer yesterday that there was plenty of water impounded in the lake to irrigate all the ranches and turn all the wheels of industry along the Truckee. Our informant said that the water at the breast of the impounding dam is 41 inches deep, but the level of the lake is really only about two feet or two feet and a half above the outlet as there is rising ground above the dam.

Was New to Them.

Yesterday the first fire alarm box was put in position at the corner of Second and Virginia streets. A saloon man who does business in that locality was noticed last evening making futile efforts to post a letter in it.

A candy man, whose store is not half a dozen blocks away, mistook it for a bobtail car. He dropped a nickel in the slot and asked to be dropped off at Buffalo.

Will Locate Here.

Lientenant and Mrs. A. Hawley expect to make Reno their permanent place of residence. The Lieutenant will open a law office in this city. He is the son of Judge Hawley, the eminent Idaho jurist. Lieutenant Hawley comes from Manila with an enviable record, having been promoted from the ranks for prowess on the field of battle.

Let's Have It.

William Pluniger still has charge of a fund consisting of about $100 which was subscribed in the good roads cause. We suggest that the commissioners use this for a neat egg and lay several hundred more dollars, wherewith to purchase steam roller and put our streets and roads in better condition.

Midsummer Business.

The hot weather is having a depressing effect upon business. A large number of families have flown to the seaside and the mountains, and merchants are noting the consequent contraction of trade.

Removal.

Dr. Hamilton has removed from the Arcade hotel to rooms over Co-Op.
store, Virginia St. Tel. 184 block of An Onyx Mine.

Recently there was discovered on claims owned by George D. Burton in Arabia district a valuable deposit of onyx. It occurs in the form of two parallel seams, each three feet wide and three quarters of a mile long.

A number of choice samples have been brought to Reno. The deposit will be extensively developed.

A Lively Institution.

There is great activity at Burke's brick yard. The establishment is running full blast. One kiln is now burning and another is ready to be fired.

In addition to what this firm will need for their own building operations, they will burn 140,000 bricks that are already contracted for.

Everybody Going.

There will be a big crowd at the Ryan
